1. WTB: RCA Console Chassis

Time for my monthly chassis request. I recently acquired an RCA 13K console. The speaker is present but the chassis is missing and I'm hoping someone here has a 13K chassis they would be willing to sell. I'd even take another speaker if I had to.

I was told that the 15K chassis will fit into my cabinet as well and will work with my current speaker. If anyone has a 13K or 15K chassis they would be willing to sell please send me an e-mail.

Regards,
Geoff

67. Anybody find the W&W battery packs are not so hot lately??????????

Hi all, the last FEW battery packs and inserts I have purchased within the last year from W&W battery seem not to be cracked up to their usual high standards. About 8 months ago I ordered a battery insert for an Alinco DJ-580T. W&W says that they use Sanyo or Panasonic cells. If other brands are used they will say so. Anyway, when I received the insert they were green batteries with no brand name on them. They didn't say Sanyo or Panasonic like they said in the past. Also the batteries had 1100 stamped into each battery. The W&W sticker says 12V @ 1200. I called them at the time and was told don't worry about the 1100, it means nothing. I said to myself ??? !!!
I few months earlier I purchased a NI-Cad pack for my FT-50. I can't see into it but it never took a full charge, even after a few weeks of proper cycling.
I have a buddy who has this expensive battery analyzer where he works, I'm told the charger is a professional charger and costs around $3500 dollars, its gotta be some gizmo.
Anyway, It did not perform well. I called W&W and told them and they replaced the pack, which is a great thing for them to do in the name of customer relations.
The one they sent me performed the same. About 3 months ago I needed another pack for the FT-50 because the second NiCad pack went bad.
I pickup up a NiMH battery this time at the local hamfest. This battery is the same deal. Never gets a full charge. I have used W&W fast charger, my Yeasu charger and a MaHa charger on these batteries. After I use them for many cycles it is the same. My buddy put this one on his expensive analyzer and the best it will do is 70 percent. WHAT GIVES???? This is a 9.6V @1100MaH and it acts like a 600ma nicad. I use these HT's to receive 98% of the time since they are used mostly at work.
I have the same damn problem with a pack for my FT-530.
I have been very happy with W&W over the last 15 or so years. I don't know what is going on other than using cheaper batteries and charging for the higher priced good batteries.
BTW, that Alinco battery insert does not hold a great charge and has a cell going bad. My batteries usually last for about 2 years or so. Not any of these. I have had many HT's over the years and I'm knowable of batteries and the different types and charging habits. If I only had one charger I'd suspect that, but with all the chargers I own and with my buddys charger at work, I know it's not me or my equipment, it's the batteries.

Any comments from people finding the same results??

Hi all, BLAH BLAH BLAH.....

Try buying a real OEM QUALITY battery!!! Yeah I know it costs a little more, but money is not everything.....
The differance in price is minimal, compared to the lack of service...save your bucks a little longer and get the GOOD battery.

I buy ALL my batteries for my Motorola equipment FROM MOTOROLA.....just for that reason.....cheap is cheap.....price quality and performance...I want/need and use a good battery when i'm away from my vehicle or in the field for extended hours...NO W&W batteries for me, also stay away from "Alexander" as they are shit too.

Hi all, BLAH BLAH BLAH.....

Try buying a real OEM QUALITY battery!!! Yeah I know it costs a little more, but money is not everything.....
The difference in price is minimal, compared to the lack of service...save your bucks a little longer and get the GOOD battery.

I have for sale a Heathkit DX-60 transmitter in fair to good cosmetic condition. All of the parts are there and the previous owner said it works, but I haven't tested it (no crystals or VFO). Asking $50 plus shipping from 68132.

I also have an SB-401 transmitter for parts or restoration. It is missing the finals and mic jack, but otherwise looks to be complete. Asking $75 plus shipping from 68132.

Finally, I have an SB-303 receiver in excellent condition. No scratches, dents, or dings. The Heathkit power cord and jack has been replaced by a more common computer type cord and jack, but it looks to be all original besides that. Asking $200 plus shipping from 68132.

I'll take cash for the above or will trade toward an Icom 706 or similar mobile HF rig, IC-736, Yaesu FT-840, or working Swan gear.

Please reply via email to jcamp2@cox.net.

Thanks and 73,

I do not any more; Motorola seems to use whatever cells are available on the market, while aftermarket suppliers often use Sanyo cells - these batteries are cheaper, and at least the same quality as the original ones, often better.

Time for my monthly chassis request. I recently acquired an RCA 13K console.
The speaker is present but the chassis is missing and I'm hoping someone here has a 13K chassis they would be willing to sell. I'd even take another speaker if I had to.
I was told that the 15K chassis will fit into my cabinet as well and will work with my current speaker. If anyone has a 13K or 15K chassis they would be willing to sell please send me an e-mail.

Geoff

If you have a HAM or CB Radio product to sell, and are looking for an easy inexpensive way to sell it... I have the ideal domain name for you.

PileupBuster.com

The name is instantly recognizable to all HAM and CB Radio people. It is also very meaningful and easy to remember.

Click on this link to see the traffic and get more information.

If you don't like the price, email me an offer.

Or, maybe you have an HF RIG to trade. I am looking for a used Yeasu FT-1000 or an FT-897 with or without the antenna tuner.

Hello!
I'm Motorola P080 tranceiver owner. The one I use went probably broken - it gives a short beep afrer powerin on and displays "EPM ERR" message.
Possible cause of this malfunction is application (Tuner32 for Motorola programming) failure during the programming procedure.
Some parameters of my TRX were changed, but this application doen't allow me to restore their last values. My attempts to restore some older configuration files don't give any results.
I also tried to use EntryLevelProgramming application - it also gives no positive results. I'd appreciate any suggestions, how to repair it.

Best regards, Jacek.

He bought a handi from me months ago and he paid promptly via PayPal.

Now, PayPal has placed a hold on MY ACCOUNT because of the recent complaints about his activity.

I'm not sure who to blame here! Him or PayPal.

I would blame PayPal for this one. If the guy paid for something, it's paid for. PayPal probably froze your account so they could steal the money back from you to pay some of his victims.. (makes about as much sense as anything else PayPal does).

You are in clear violation of ebay rules and are spamming per your ISP. I do like some of your items, but don't want to have a large amount of bandwidth wasted when you make one post per item.

Have you ever wondered how some ruully, rully, big RF tubes would work as audio amplifiers? Like maybe a 3-500Z?

Many of the Eimac power triodes and tetrodes are rated for use at AF.

The 3CX400A7/8874 is a compact high-mu power triode intended for use in zero bias Class B amplifiers in audio or RF applications. Operation with zero bias simplifies circuitry and cathode driven operation is attractive since a power gain as high as twenty can be obtained.

The 5CX1500A is designed for use as a Class AB1 linear amplifier in audio or radio frequency applications. Its characteristic low intermodulation distortion makes it especially suitable for single sideband service. The tube is also recommended for use as a Class C RF power amplifier in CW, FM and AM service.

The 5CX1500A is good for 3200 Watts as a class AB1 audio power amp:

MAXIMUM RATINGS TYPICAL OPERATION
Class Type of Service Plate Voltage (Volts) Plate current (Amps) Plate Voltage (Volts) Screen Voltage (Volts) Plate Current (Amps) Drive Power (Watts) Output Power (kiloWatts)
AB1 AF Amplifier or Modulated 4,000 1.0 3,800 500 1.3 -- 3.22

A look through the catalog at <http://www.cpii.com/eimac/index.html>
is very instructive.

Complain to his ISP and to EBAY. Make sure that you include the entire post with headers, EBay does not like it when their clients Spam and have strict policies.
